If the constitution of the Peruvian courts, or the interpretation of the law by Peruvian judges, deprives Landreau of the justice which the contract itself guaranteed him, then in the opinion of this government, Peru is bound, in duty and in honor, to do one of three things, viz: Supply an impar-tial tribunal, extend jurisdiction of the present courts, or submit the case of Landreau to arbitration. I desire also to call your attention to the fact that in the anticipated treaty, in which to adjust the relations of Chili and Peru, the latter may possibly be com-pelled to submit to loss of territory, if the territory to be surrendered should include the guano deposits which were discovered by Landreau, and for the discovery of which Peru contracted to pay him a royalty upon the tonnage removed, then the Peruvian government should in treaty stipulate with Chili for the preservation and payment to Landreau of the amount due under his contract. If the transfer be made to Chili, it should be understood that the claim of an American citizen, if fairly adjudicated in his favor, should be treated as a prior lien the property to which it on condition annexed. Hen. James G. Blaine, Secretary of State, Wash-SIR - I acknowledge receipt your dispatch dated August 14th, 1881, in relation to certain alleged claims upon the government of Peru. As to the Cochet claim, this legation has nothing but vague and sweeping statements better adopted to creating commer-cial enterprise than to any judicial or quasi-judicial action. I have been favored with two very extraordinary letters and some printed matter emanating from J. R. Shepherd, to which I reply by this mail, asking specific statements as to the original character and extent of the claim and proofs in support of it. In the Landreau case the proofs are sufficient and the conditions in which the Peruvian government has left the complainant orm a just ground for a decided appeal to their sense of justice. I shall follow the directions in your dispatch and interpose in behalf of this and all other American claims if any negotiations take place between Peru and Chili which involves the loss of and Chili which involves the loss of territory. DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, Nov. 19, 1881 ; Stephen A. Hurlbuut, Esq., et. Dear Sir -Your No. 12 in reference to the Cochet and Landreau claims. indicates prudence and care on your part. After the instructions in my No. 7, in regard to this subject, had been mailed, I became convinced that there was no need of even the preliminary inquiry, which I suggested in to the Cochet claims. There is no just ground whatever on which this government could intervene on behalf of it. In so far as there may be any basis for the claim at all, it originates in the demand of a native Peruvian against his government. If American citizens purchased or entered in such claim, they pur-chased nothing more than the original claimant possessed. They did not and could not purchase the good offices of this government, and you are instructed not to extend them in the case of the Cochet claim. Your proposed course in regard to the Laudreau claim is approved, but the claim must not of course be pressed in any matter that would seem to embarrass Peru in the hour of her distress. Your previous instructions to use your good offices in procuring an adjudication of the Landreau claim was made in view of the possible fact, of which there was wide rumor, that numerous French and English claims were to be presented, in which event I was anxious that the resources of Peru should not be exhausted in the settlement of other claims, to the prejudice and detriment of one be longing to the American nation You will still be guided by the spirit and interest of that instruction.
